

Roberson Hall

male + female towers

Style of residence hall: Pod style residence hall, similar to an apartment. Pods contain a couch, loveseat, kitchen table with chairs, one coffee table, two end tables, one entertainment center, and a TV. Inside each pod is a kitchen equipped with a refrigerator, sink, cabinets, and pantry. Each floor contains four pods. Each pod contains four rooms. Two rooms in each pod are double rooms; the other two rooms are single rooms. A maximum of six students live in each pod.

Bathroom: Each room has its own, personal bathroom containing a shower, shower curtain, toilet, towel rack, and bathroom sink/cabinet space with a mirror.

Potential total # of students in residence hall: 138

Potential total # of students on each hall: 24

Amenities/furniture included: In all rooms, each resident receives a twin-size bed, desk and chair, dresser, and open closet. Central laundry area is located on the second floor of the dorm; washers and dryers are quarter operated.

Heating & air: Central heating and air. The temperature in each pod is controlled by a thermostat that is located in the shared living space.

Roberson's stand-out features:

-Each pod normally decorates their living room in relation to the personality of the pod. This is a great way for community and connection to occur.

-Located in between the male and female Roberson towers, RobLob serves as a commons area for the entire campus. Students can hangout in the main lobby, hold a group meeting in ThinkTank, or do homework in the Fish Bowl. Students also have access to vending machines, computers, and printer.
